Kim Brewbaker "Renaissance's Past, Present, & Future"

Kim is a long-time employee with 25 years with the company. Its origin back in 1986 as a product from a mother for her children, to first being adopted at St. Mary's school to the formation of Read-Up and then Advantage Learning. From private ownership, to public company, and then and now to private equity ownership. They currently have roughly 1,500 employees with products in all 50 states in 38,000 schools by over 14 million students. The products featuring Accelerated Reader, Accelerated Math, and Star assessments are used across the globe and are available in both English and spanish. Their mission is to accelerate learning for all children and adults. Teachers are their focus, providing learning analytics to enable teachers to focus their attention where it is needed. In the future they continue to introduce their products across the globe and are currently working on a product version for the Chinese market. As likely the largest current employer in the area, Renaissance has a large impact on the community from all of the employees and the community engagement.
